

CALL FOR PAPERS – SEPTEMBER/2019

Thematic Issue

(RE)INVENTING THE STATE IN THE 21ST CENTURY

Católica Law Review welcomes the submission of articles in the field of Public Law from all legal scholars and practitioners (including professors, lecturers, doctoral candidates, graduate students, and lawyers) for the January issue of 2020. Dissertations and papers written by graduate students in the context of master and postgraduate programmes are not eligible for publication, unless they have been subject to very substantial editing for publication purposes and comply with the formal requirements laid down in the style guide.

Católica Law Review is an international, bilingual (Portuguese or English), academic, and peer reviewed legal journal of the Católica Research Centre for the Future of Law of the School of Law of Universidade Católica Portuguesa, and is published by Universidade Católica Editora (UCE).

Designed to foster outstanding legal research and to reflect the evolution of legal thought, Católica Law Review is a journal open to prospective authors from all origins, and is based on the most demanding international standards of peer review.

Deadline for Paper Submissions is September 30, 2019 at 23:00 PM GMT. Accepted manuscripts will be published in the January issue. Paper acceptance/rejection notification: 30-40 days.

Authors can use the email catolicalawreview.fd@fd.lisboa.ucp.pt to submit their papers to the reviewing process.

Publication Due: volume III - Issue 1, January – 2020

Link to previous issues:

<https://fd.lisboa.ucp.pt/docentes-conhecimento/catolica-research-centre-future-law/investigacao/catolica-law-review/published-volumes>

or

<http://www.direito.ceid.porto.ucp.pt/pt/node/9611>